

National Museum of Scotland

Family Puzzle trail

Follow our trail to meet some old friends and discover more exciting exhibits.

Grand Gallery mix up!

Can you puzzle out what's wrong with each of these exhibits?

The puzzle trail is a large purple-bordered area containing several exhibits. A dashed purple line indicates the path, starting at a 'Start here' icon (a green square with a white staircase and an upward arrow) and ending at a 'Way out' icon (a green square with a white staircase and a rightward arrow). The exhibits are:

- A green ornate lamp with a tiered base and a glass chimney.
- A green ornate structure with a domed top and four columns.
- A large, grey, pointed object with a serrated edge, possibly a fossil or a piece of wood.
- A grey mechanical device with a circular top and a vertical frame of gears and pulleys.
- A brown, flat, oval object with two small rectangular protrusions.
- A seated Buddha statue on a tiered pedestal.
- A camel skeleton.

Animal World

Can you match these tails and toes with their owners?

Living Lands

Can you spot these objects from their silhouettes?

Patterns of Life

Can you find a pair of shoes with 'tiger-faces'?

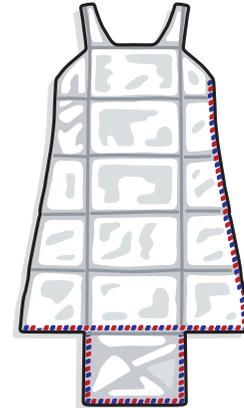

Millennium Clock

Which of these animals is NOT hiding in the clock?

Fashion and Style

This dress folds up so small it can fit in an envelope. How many folds can you count?

Well done!

You've solved all the puzzles!

Way out

Start here

Grand Gallery

Earth in Space

Find a Scottish flag that was 'out of this world'.

My favourite thing

What did you like best at the Museum today?

Share a pic of your favourite thing with us on our Facebook, Twitter or Instagram.

For more family fun check out <https://www.nms.ac.uk/museum-at-home>